

SQL EXERCISES USING THE PREMPRODS DATABASE

1. Use the natural join: List all customers and their ordernumber and order date
2. Show the warehouse number and the total of units within each warehouse
Display next to the warehouse number: "Warehouse#:
Use the column heading Total Units on Hand
3. Show all the customers and all the orders displaying null values next to the customer name and number when a customer did not place any orders. The customer table must be the dominant table. Use a left or right outer join depending on the positioning of the table.
4. Show all the customers and all the orders displaying null values next to the customer name and number when a customer did not place any orders. The ORDERS table must be the dominant table. Use a left or right outer join depending on the positioning of the table.
5. Show all the orders and its customers not displaying null values next to the customer name and number. The ORDERS table must be the dominant table. Use a left or right outer join depending on the positioning of the table.
6. Show the partnumber, part description, the average unitprce from PART
7. Show all parts sold by which the units sold value is greater than the average of parts sold value for the specific and every part.
8. Write an SQL statement to change the ENGINE of table ORDERS to Innodb