

```
package menuswitch;

import java.util.Scanner;

public class MenuSwitch {

    public static void main(String[] args) { Scanner scn = new Scanner(System.in);
        int choice, num1, num2, answer;

        System.out.println("\tCalculator");
        System.out.println("1: Plus");
        System.out.println("2: Minus");
        System.out.println("3. Multiplication");
        System.out.println("4: Division");
        System.out.println("5: Exit");

        System.out.println("Enter first number");
        num1 = scn.nextInt();
        System.out.println("Enter second number");
        num2 = scn.nextInt();
        System.out.println("Enter your choice");

        choice = scn.nextInt();

        switch (choice) {
            case 1:
                answer = num1 + num2;
                System.out.println("Addition: " + answer);
                break;
            case 2:
                answer = num1 - num2;
                System.out.println("Subtraction: " + answer);
                break;
            case 3:
                answer = num1 * num2;
                System.out.println("Multiplation: " + answer);
                break;
            case 4:
                answer = num1 / num2;
                System.out.println("Division: " + answer);
                // break;
            case 5:
                System.out.println("Thank you.");
                System.exit(0);
                break;
            default:
                System.out.println("Wrong choice");
        }
        System.out.println("Switch done.");
    }

}
```