

Information Management 2

You are the project leader and lead developer at AWSOME PROPERTIES a real estate agency operating in the Cape Peninsula which specializes in the sale of up-market properties. Your latest project is to develop the Sales Listings information system (SLIS) for the agency. The system will need to manage and maintain details about the properties, property owners, agents and the sales. Carefully study the ERD below and use it to help you create your solution in SQL constructs for the new property management system. (Additional tables can be created for an expanded new system and appropriate attributes must be captured in the tables). You were asked to assist with the SQL coding for a new system (Grp 4).
