

Example Deck

Your Company Name

A tagline about what you do

What's the Problem?

- Break down the problem you're solving
- Use a couple bullet points if you need to
- Be as concise and clear as possible
- Data is great too—100% of investors appreciate data

Who Feels This Problem?

- Make it clear exactly who has this problem
- Is this a problem for individuals or businesses?
- Be specific about each potential persona

How Many People Feel This Problem?

- This helps us understand your market size
- Use real numbers to show how many potential customers or users there are
- Slides 2–4 can be one single slide if you'd like

What Is Your Solution?

- How does your company solve the problem?
- Be concise and specific

Why Is This the Right Time?

- Why is this moment in time well-suited for your company to grow and be successful?
- Timing can play a big factor—what has changed or will change soon about the world that makes your solution the obvious choice?

Do You Have Any Traction?

- Are you already solving this for users or customers?
- If so, how many and for how long?
- Show specific numbers
- What are users or customers saying about your solution?
- Show specific feedback

How Does It Work?

- What is the process or technology that makes your solution work?
- Is that proprietary or patented?
- Keep it simple—we don't need to know every detail about the technology

How Does This Make Money?

- What is the business model behind your company?
- How much could this company earn, given your estimated market size?
- How much money are you making now, given your traction?
- This should make the overall investment opportunity clear and compelling
 - Investors give you money so they can earn a return on that investment—this slide should make it clear that this investment could generate a large return

Competitive Marketplace Analysis

- Who are your competitors or alternatives?
- How are you different or better than those competitors?
- There are always competitors or alternatives—even if it's “doing nothing”

Who Are You, and Why Are You on the Team?

- Who is on your team?
- What are their skill sets?
- What is their relevant experience to solving this problem?
- This slide should make it clear that you have a well-balanced and talented team that has credibility in this space

What Are the Next Steps and Timeline?

- For your company to succeed, what do the next 6, 12, and 18 months look like?
- Share a timeline and the key milestones that your team will accomplish along that timeline

What Is Your Ask?

- For you to successfully reach those milestones and follow the timeline, what kind of resources do you need?
- Share a specific total for your overall fundraising, as well as what you're asking from this specific investor
- Be brave—remember that it's an investor's job to write checks
